Raised in Huntington, New York, Andrew M. Reardon has been interested in the area of Trusts and Estates since law school. Andrew obtained his undergraduate degree from the State University of New York, College at Oneonta (B.S., History), his master's degree from the University of St. Andrews in Scotland (M.Litt., Medieval History), and his law degree from St. John's University School of Law. Prior to joining the firm, Andrew was an associate with Grant Thornton, LLP and a judicial law clerk at the U.S. Court of International Trade in New York.

Andrew focuses his practice on providing estate planning guidance to individuals and families, including the preparation of wills and trust agreements, the administration of estates and trusts, and advice regarding tax considerations.

Andrew lives in Manhattan with his wife and is a member of the New York State and City Bar Associations. He also volunteers with the New York City Bar Justice Center's Planning and Estates Law Project, which assists low income New Yorkers with estate planning and administration.
